The law passed at the Prominent among the bishops at the last session of the general assembly requires the bank commissioners to prepare this list every six months and have it printed for the information of the officials of the banks. The pamhlet will be ready for distribution early in November. This is the first time in the history of the state bank commission that it has ever had to do this work. It is an nnovation. The bank commissioners acknowledge its desirability and their acknowledgment is not less cheerful because it entails a great amount of extra labor on the department. The securities consist of railroad and municipal bonds, etc., numbering in all about 500. When the pamphlet is printed copies of it will be sent to the savings banks and other banks operating under state charters. At the end of six months another list will be prepared by the bank commissioners for the guidance of the banks,
